Dear Mr. Brown,

This letter is to advise you that further to Dr. Rae-Grant's correspondence to you, and our last telephone conversation, the concerns you have raised with regard to the immunological vs. toxicological nature of environmental sensitivities have now been referred to the Scientific Council of the CPA.

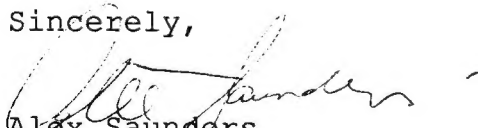

As suggested by you, a copy of the Health and Welfare discussion paper, Health Environments for Canadians has also been obtained and forwarded to the Scientific Council.

Your second letter dated June 3, 1989, and received today, has of course been forwarded to Dr. Rae-Grant.

Although I am unable to indicate when a reply from the Scientific Council may be available, please be assured that the matter will receive serious consideration. I will look forward to communicating the reply of the Canadian Psychiatric Association when it has completed the necessary stages of approval.

Thank you for bringing this matter to our attention.

Sincerely,

Alex Saunders
Chief Administrative Officer
